2 Arabs Die From Grenade

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two Arab boys were killed and 10 other persons were wounded Monday by a hand grenade thrown at an Israeli military vehicle a few minutes after Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan drove past on a tour of Gaza, the Israeli army reported.

The Arab refugee center has been the scene of several bitter confrontations between Arabs and the Israeli occupying force during the past two weeks. Day over all of his top military officials were making an unannounced tour of the area.

Senate Fight Over Pay Hike Starts Today

By ROBERT T. GRAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the Senate's leading economy watchdogs has dismissed as "malarkey" the claim that a resolution he sponsored lacks the legal force to block a congressional pay boost.

"That's malarkey and they know it," said Delaware Republican John J. Williams going into today's scheduled debate on the resolution.

Without a House or Senate veto the proposed pay hikes take effect Feb. 14. Congressional pay would go up from $30,000 to $42,500 with bigger increases going to judges, Cabinet members and other high federal officials.

Backers of the pay raises contended that the law on which they are based says they will take effect unless the House or Senate has "enacted legislation" to the contrary.

While they contended this means a full dress bill, Williams said it was "clear and absolutely clear" that a resolution would suffice.

Williams had vowed in an interview Monday to meet every parliamentary maneuver with a demand for a roll-call vote and insisted there was no way his colleagues could avoid a public stand on the issue.

Williams had fought almost alone to block the raises, which he said will prompt big wage demands throughout the economy.

Both Senate leaders—Democrat Mike Mansfield and Republican Everett M. Dirksen—had said then favored the increase. Mansfield, however, has said the efforts to avoid a public stand by members makes the Senate "look bad."

Former President Lyndon B. Johnson proposed the raises in his last budget under a new system established by Congress in a 1967 law. It reflected a strong desire for a congressional pay raise with a minimum of the possible political consequences of voting directly for one.

He vowed to escalate guerrilla activities against Israel until they become "an all-out liberation war encompassing the whole of our occupied Palestinian homeland."

The Iraqi government announced a 20-year-old Iraqi soldier had confessed to the murder of a left-wing army officer who Syria claimed was assassinated by the Iraqi government. The officer, Col. Abdul Karim Mustafah Nasrati, was found dead in his Baghdad apartment Jan. 27. He had been a supporter of the Syrian wing of the Baath Socialist party. Feuding Baath factions rule the two nations.

Witness Pleads for Immunity

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The judge at Clay Shaw's trial has been asked to guarantee an Iowa resident "immunity from prosecution" if she appears as a defense witness.

She is Mrs. Harold McMains, 24, of Des Moines, one-time girl friend of a prime prosecution witness, Perry R. Russo.

A defense motion for the court order was set for argument when the jury is completed—and before Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison emerges to make the opening statement accusing Shaw of conspiring with Lee Harvey Oswald to murder President John F. Kennedy.

Another 150 citizens were summoned today to Judge Edward E. Haggerty's Criminal District Court for examination as prospective second alternate jurors.

First alternate John J. Bellman, 26, was accepted Monday. It was the 12th day of the trial.

In seeking specific court protection for Mrs. McMains, chief defense lawyer F. Irvin Dymond said she was so afraid of Garrison she was in hiding to avoid a defense subpoena.

Dymond said Mrs. McMains is important because she denies a story told by Russo, 26, at a three-judge preliminary hearing in 1967 on whether Shaw should be held to trial.

Battle for Control of Steel Union

By DOUG BAILEY

Associated Press Writer PITTSBURGH (AP) — A struggle for control of the United Steelworkers Union, the nation's third-largest, comes to an end next Tuesday.

President I. W. Abel, who won the job four years ago with a promise to give the members more voice, is being challenged by a lawyer from his headquarters staff, Emil E. Narick.

Narick contends that if Abel wins, there is a strong chance he will retire and become head of the AFL-CIO, replacing George Meany, who is 74.

The steelworkers, with 1.2 million members, is the largest in the AFL-CIO since Walter Reuther took his autoworkers out. Spokesmen for Abel say he will serve out his term if elected.

Narick says if he wins, he will re-examine the union's affiliation with the AFL-CIO. If the relationship is not beneficial, he says he will consider "other alignments."

There have been rumors, some of them published, that Reuther is backing Narick. Narick denies it. A spokesman for Reuther disclaimed any knowledge of it.

In an interview, Narick referred to Reuther as an example of the kind of leader the steelworkers need and the autoworkers union as the kind of union that the steelworkers should be.

One of Narick's platform promises would allow locals to strike over local issues, one of the important differences between the steelworkers and the autoworkers in contract bargaining.

Narick's campaign has stressed his advocacy of greater union democracy and rank-and-file participation—an issue reminiscent of Abel's own campaign, partly along those lines, in 1965.

As the incumbent, Abel is considered the favorite. All 29 of the powerful district directors are backing him. The directors

Education Bills Lose in Both Houses

By ED SHEARER

Associated Press Writer LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Both houses of the Arkansas General Assembly defeated bills Monday which the authors contended would improve education in the state.

The Senate rejected a measure that would require small school districts to upgrade their curricula or face consolidation with larger districts in five years.

The House defeated a bill that would have vested in the Commission on Coordination of Higher Educational Finance the power to set curricula and budgets for each state-supported college and university.

Sen. Know Nelson of Pine Bluff kept the Senate bill, which was defeated 15-16, alive when he gave notice of reconsideration.

An attempt by Sen. Guy H. "Mutt" Jones of Conway to amend the measure to give small schools 10 years to upgrade their program failed, even though Jones succeeded in attaching an identical amendment last Friday to a similar bill authored by Sens. Clarence Bell of Parkin and Joe Ford of Little Rock. Their bill has not been brought to a final vote.

Sen. Thomas Penn of Cave City, author of the defeated measure, said it "could be called a bill to prevent consolidation."

All a school has to do under the bill, Penn said, is improve and it could avoid consolidation.

Senator Virgil Fletcher of Benton said he opposed the measure because it amounted to the state Education Department handing down "guidelines" to the schools. He said he was "bitterly and totally against guidelines from higher up."

Rep. Leon Holsted's bill to establish a consolidated system of higher education failed 16-71. He said the bill would create a "vigorous program" for Arkansas students, not a mediocre one.

Rep. Ray S. Smith Jr. of Hot Springs said the Holsted bill might be the answer to the state's financial problems.

Rep. Jerry Bookout of Jonesboro said the bill would take away the initiative and incentive of the state's colleges and universities. He said it would do nothing more than relegate colleges other than the University of Arkansas to nothing more than "satellite diploma mills."

In other action, the Senate passed three House bills authorizing the establishment of vocational-technical schools in Garland, Izard and Desha counties.

The measures provide only for authorization of construction and make no provision for funding the schools immediately.

The House passed a Senate concurrent resolution by Sen. Fletcher urging Congress to end the practice of imposing federal guidelines.

The lower chamber also passed 56-19 a bill by Rep. James Roberts of Truman, that would take hit-and-run accidents a felony in cases where there is injury or $300 property damage.

Passed 33-1 was a bill by Ivan Rose of Rogers which provides for fines of not more than $1,000 or prison sentences of not more than one year for persons convicted for the fraudulent use of or theft of credit cards.

Both houses adjourned until 1 p.m. today.

were split when he upset David J. McDonald four years ago. In addition, Abel controls most, if not all, of the staff representatives—field representatives on the union payroll who are an important link between the local unions and headquarters.

Narick is running on a shoestring. His headquarters is in his basement. He helps stuff his campaign mail when he is in town. In many districts he has no formal organization. He is counting on the vote of the discontented and expects to win with it.

Abel acknowledges that discontent is always a factor in a large industrial union. In 1961, an unknown steelworker, Donald Narick, startled the union by becoming the first man to challenge an incumbent president. He polled 223,000 against McDonald's 404,000.

Narick, 52, a former University of Pittsburgh football player who referees at college football games in the fall, says the 328 nominations he received from are reported actively interested in finding out whether the Chinese may in fact be at a point of exploring new relations with the United States and possibly other countries.

In the Warsaw meeting, therefore, U.S. Ambassador Walter Stoessel Jr. probably will be authorized to suggest a lowering of travel barriers and an easing of limitations on other means of communication.

The Nixon administration's basic policy in this situation in this situation is said to be one of readiness for "friendly relations," with any country willing to reciprocate.

But the issues are far more complicated than that. The United States has itself been an issue of bitter controversy between Red China and the Soviet Union, and any move Washington makes is bound to be regarded suspiciously in Moscow as well as Peking.

Thus at a time when Nixon hopes to get active and successful cooperation with Moscow in making peace in the Middle East and in limiting deployment of nuclear missiles, he is not likely to go out of his way to upset the Soviets by making overtures to Red China.

Yet there are pressures on the President from Congress to at least explore the possibility of opening up contracts with mainland China after 20 years of near total separation.

Throughout this time the central dispute between Washington and Peking has been over the Chinese Nationalist Government of President Chiang Kai-shek on the island of Formosa.

The United States has proposed that the main land Chinese renounce the use of force in seeking settlement of the issue. The Chinese, scorning that approach, have demanded that the United States abandon the Nationalist regime and Formosa to them.

In recent years the costly and expanding war in Vietnam has been another major block in the way of accommodations. With the end of the bombing of North Vietnam last October, however, and the expansion of the Paris peace talks into a new phase, this issue may have declined somewhat in urgency.

The key question which the Nixon administration appears to be intent on probing now is whether in spite of these two issues—Formosa and Vietnam—the leadership in Peking may have arrived at a point where it is prepared to begin slowly to ease tensions and open means of communication.

you, your talent can't function. If you let yourself be hurried, you lose your inventiveness. You have to forget those other things, lower your head and go ahead."

Bob was impressed by the discovery that a film director has much more power than a stage director.

"On stage," he said, "a director can't change a word without the writer's consent. In films, a director can drop whole scenes if he chooses to."

"But power is always dangerous. If a director overuses it, he can start indulging his every whim—and so can the cast."

"On the other hand, if you underuse that power, you lose control. The picture can be taken away from you by the actors, the cameramen, or the studio itself. A director has to use his authority so that he is creative but not self-indulgent."

Fosse, blonded lightly balding, and trim-figured, works with a half-smoked cigarette eternally dangling from his lips. He is patient, soft-spoken, and has a philosophic turn of mind.

"I became a choreographer in self-defense," he remarked. "I didn't like the dances that were being choreographed for me, so I started doing my own."

"It's really quite a bit like writing, where you start with a phrase or a sentence and the build a chapter. In choreography you start with a movement, and to me movements are words. If you get a good, distinctive movement, you can build a whole dance from it."

The bill would require that 15 per cent of the assessed property owners in a drainage improvement district could call an election to recall members of the drainage board. Present law requires 51 per cent.

Roberts contends that the chairman of the Drainage District 7 Board in Poinsett County, Dan Portis of Lepanto, who has large land holdings in the county, has benefited from drainage projects in the area.

February is American History Month and the event is sponsored locally by the Daughters of the American Revolution. A proclamation announcing the event was signed by Mayor Frank Douglas as Mrs. Paul W. Klipsch, Regent of John Cain Chapter, and Mrs. J. Howard Waddle, Historian, look on.

Proclamation for American History Month

WHEREAS, the Congress of the United States by Joint Resolution designated February as American History Month; and

WHEREAS, law or government alone could never bind 200,000,000 Americans together as a Nation; this is the result of a rich heritage, common convictions, and the fraternity of brave men and women who carved a great nation out of the wilderness; and

WHEREAS, it is through the study of American History that we can best honor our debt to the wisdom, faith and sacrifices of land in Poinsett and Mississippi counties. He owns land that abuts the land now being drained.

Roberts said the requiring 51 per cent of the assessed property owners to call a recall election was unrealistic because there were only a few land owners in the district.

Stafford asked the Senate Monday for leave to remove the bill from committee and place it on the calendar for immediate consideration.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the City of Hope to be affixed this 31 day of January, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and sixty-nine, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and ninety-third.

HELEN HELP US!

EMANCIPATED SISTER EM-BARRASSES BROTHER
Dear Helen: I guess my problem is a liberated sister, at least that's what she jokingly calls herself. She's liberated from all the things women have to go through to be women — cosmetics (she's pretty enough without them), curlers, hair-spray, woman's magazines — she prefers the Playboy type — girdles, etc.

This wouldn't matter, except that I am her "kid brother," and since I started college, I share her apartment. We get along fine, and it's a very economical arrangement, but the way she dresses — or doesn't dress — embarrasses me. At home that is. She gusses up for dates. I'll be specific. The other night she invited one of her girl-friends over for dinner. I kept asking when she was going to change her clothes, but she just shrugged. She entertained in short shorts and a heavy pullover sweatshirt, with nothing on underneath, and this was very apparent as her figure is a knock-out — around 38-24-35.

When I talked to her later about this she apologized and said she was amazed that I was upset. After all, she was just entertaining another woman and her own brother, and she wasn't indecent. She just doesn't care about wear-

MR. AND MRS. HENRY ROBINSON
Mr. and Mrs. Henry Robinson will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 9 in their home at 816 Mack St.

They were married in Hope Feb. 14, 1919.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson have six children: Herman of Houston, Texas; Mrs. Albert L. Anderson, Houston; Mrs. Billy Ray Thompson, Waxahachie, Texas; Mrs. Jesse McCormick, Mrs. J.W. McAdams, and Mrs. Bobby Joe Lee, all of Hope.

There are 13 grandchildren and 6 great-grandchildren.

ing undergarments. I'll admit she never wears see-through clothes and she covers herself properly, but Helen, even though I'm her brother, I'm a man and in the presence of her woman friends, I'm apt to blush. Also, I'd like to invite girls over to the apartment to study, but they might be embarrassed.

Am I wrong to think my sister should dress a little more lady-like in mixed company, even if I'm the only "mixed" one? — PUZZLED BROTHER

Dear Brother: Wouldn't you be better off in a bachelor apartment shared with other college men? Your sister likes her way of life — and this is fine for relaxed feminine living: Most single girls dress down at home and don't dress up for female company. But I can see where it would embarrass YOU, just as SHE would be irked if you appeared shirtless in front of her boy friends.

You'll be closer friends if you split up. Right? — H.

Dear Helen: I am a male college student and need extra cash but can't hack a steady, eight-hour job. I am interested in modelling clothes for male magazines that have fashion pages. I believe I have the proper qualifications. How do I go about getting jobs? — B.R. NEW JERSEY

Dear B: Inquire at a model agency, preferably in New York (though most large cities have good agencies). If the director here thinks you stack up favorably against the competition, he will make arrangements to produce a photo "composite" which will be sent to photographers, magazines editors, etc. This is all at your own expense, and it isn't exactly cheap. But if often produces results.

Good luck! — H.

Dear Helen: My dad is always saying things like, "Straighten up or leave the table!" or "If you aren't going to work, get out of the house!" The other day I got out of the house when he said that, and when I came back he grounded me for a month for being disobedient. I did just what he said. Why don't parents say what they mean? — NICK

Dear Nick: I'll bet your father

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — While variety shows including "Laugh-In" and the special programs of the three networks are capturing most of the publicity and a lot of the critical comment, there are a number of other programs that just roll along comfortably, year after year.

Some excellent examples of these comparatively quiet hits are packed into CBS's Monday night schedule, starting with TV's oldest western, "Gunsmoke," which after 14 years turned up in the most recent Nielsen ratings as the number four program in the top 10 list.

It was followed by "Here's Lucy," born 18 years ago as "I Love Lucy" and with some cast and name changes has continued right along ever since. Then there is "Mayberry R.F.D.," which emerged out of the long-playing "Andy Griffith Show" with a new star but the same locale and personnel — and has never been out of the top 20 list. And then comes "Family Affair," now in its third season and giving every indication it will jog along until its young stars, Anissa Jones and Johnny Whitaker are ready for college.

Monday night's "Gunsmoke" was the story of a pair of roistering boozing buffalo hunters accidentally discovering that a quiet rancher, living near Dodge City with his wife and step-son, was the commandant of a Civil War prison where 700 soldiers had died brutally. Townsfolk wanted to lynch him for his actions as a soldier under orders 10 years before.

The story, reminiscent of stories of a more contemporary war, seemed to convey the message that a man should be judged, not by his past, but by the present. At any rate, Marshal Dillon kept the peace and turned the man free — to suffer in his own private hell. It was not, perhaps, quite up to "Gunsmoke's" usual tempo and it was followed by what seemed to have been one of Lucille Ball's off nights. The comedy was shot on location at Los Angeles airport. The whole show was one long comedy chase up and down escalators, around the terminal and on the airport field with Lucy and her accomplice, Gale Gordon, pursued by a pair of spies trying to grab a secret formula. The show is usually less active and considerably less predictable.

"Mayberry" was an amusing 30 minutes about one of the town bachelors, a quiet fellow whose hobby was coin collecting, falling for a swinging girl whose passion was sky-diving. The gentle style and understated humor of the piece was most agreeable and most viewers could sympathize heartily with the poor man who had committed himself to taking a parachute jump from an airplane.

"Family Affair" had the little stars of the show playing with a tape recorder and bugging some private conversations. There was great good humor in the show, plus a tug at the heart. Like "Mayberry," it owes much of its success to its cast, particularly Brian Keith and Sebastian Cabot who work so beautifully with the children.

None of the programs is so stimulating that one is tempted to talk about it the next day. But altogether they provide an amusing, undemanding evening for the tired breadwinner or housewife.

Lombardi Quits Packers for Redskins

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Vince Lombardi, eager for a taste of ownership in a pro football club, said Monday he is quitting the Green Bay Packers to apply his famed coaching spurs to the sluggish Washington Redskins.

Officials of the two National Football League clubs withheld immediate confirmation that the Packers general manager was becoming executive vice president and chief coach of the Redskins, and that he would get ownership of a portion of the club.

While the Packers' executive board was scheduling another meeting today to review Lombardi's announcement, reports circulated in Washington that he would get at least five per cent of the Redskins' stock.

That would help satisfy an ambition by the NFL's most spectacular coach to own a part of the organization he directs, a role deprived him under Green Bay's Community ownership arrangements.

Redskins' President Edward Bennett Williams holds five per cent of his club's stock. The majority is held by long-time owner George Marshall, and is administered under a court trust by Williams.

Lombardi, who had often said being Green Bay coach and general manager simultaneously was too time consuming, was hesitant Monday to speculate on the future of Otto Graham, Washington's coach and general manager.

"I haven't the slightest idea about Otto," Lombardi said.

Redskins official withheld formal comment while the Packers discussed whether to free Lombardi from a contract that didn't have an expiration date until 1974.

"This is not an ordinary matter," said Dominic Olejniczak, president of the Green Bay Packers Inc. "After all, there is only one Lombardi."

Lombardi said there was "no ill feeling" between him and Green Bay influencing his decision to abandon the club after 10 years as general manager and nine as coach, during which he piloted the team to an unprecedented five NFL championships in only seven years.

"It's been a great 10 years," he said, but adding: "Like anyone else, you always hope to own something."

The Packers are a non-profit organization in which no one gets ownership.

Lombardi said there had been no discussion with Green Bay as to his successor as general manager. "I've asked for my release from the Green Bay Packers," he said. "There's always a possibility a snag could develop."

On the other hand, he said after Monday's meeting with Packers executives, "Everything is fine. There's no problem with the board. I've just got a contract."

The contract with Green Bay, unless waived, barred him from coaching another club during the pact's lifetime.

Washington, which hasn't had a winning team since 1955, is in a situation that could tempt a coach with the Lombardi temperament winning.

"The challenge is not in maintaining, but in creating," he said.

One of his best-known expressions: "Winning isn't everything; it's the only thing."

"Cover Fire"

The word curfew comes from the French word "couvre-feu," meaning "cover fire." It was used as a signal, by the tolling of a bell, to warn townspeople to put out their fires and lights at a certain time of night.

Mathis Easy Winner Over Chualvo

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Buster Mathis, the one-time blubber boy, has turned into a bruiser and the proof is etched today on George Chualvo's carved-up face.

Mathis, of Grand Rapids, Mich., bloodied Chualvo over 12 brutal rounds Monday night and scored a unanimous decision over the Canadian heavy-weight in the second half of a Madison Square Garden boxing doubleheader.

In the opener, Emile Griffith of New York celebrated his 31st birthday with an impressive unanimous 10-round decision over Andy Hellman, a last-minute substitute for injured Doyle Baird.

Mathis, enraged at some low blows in the opening round, charged at Chualvo to retaliate and twice shoved referee Harold Valan out of the way in attempts to return the fouls.

Mathis calmed down later and methodically chopped Chualvo down, cutting him over both eyes and raising a huge lump on the Toronto fighter's left cheek.

In the 11th round, a right lead opened a deep cut at the corner of Chualvo's left eye and the wound pumped blood for the rest of the fight. It took 10 stitches to close the cut.

"I prayed they would stop the fight after he was cut," said Mathis. "But they didn't, so I had to keep going."

When the fight ended, Chualvo's face was a bloody mask. George seemed resigned to the unanimous decision against him.

"I fought a bad fight," said Chualvo. "But I'd like to fight him again. It was just one of those nights."

On deck for Mathis is a March 10 Garden date with California heavyweight Jerry Quarry. The winner of that fight could get a shot at Joe Frazier's share of the heavyweight title. Frazier beat Mathis for the crown last March.

In the opener of the doubleheader, Griffith stung Hellman repeatedly, piling up a big lead on points. The fighters spent much of the bout pounding away at close quarters.

"I thought I could have done a little better inside," said Griffith, who weighed 150½ to Hellman's 161. "He just kept coming at me."

Baylor Will Try to Stop Texas Aggies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
With the hue and cry barely dying down from their last Southwest Conference game, the once-beaten Baylor Bears try to stop the Texas Aggies tonight from making a runaway of the championship race.

Baylor is in second place with a 4-1 mark and meets the Aggies on home grounds in Waco at the Heart O' Texas Coliseum. A&M is unbeaten in five SWC games.

Coach Bill Meneff of Baylor took issue Monday with published remarks by Rice coach Don Knodel regarding the Bears' 71-68 victory over the Owls in Houston Saturday.

Meneff was fired somewhat by Knodel's statement about the officiating that "even the Baylor coaches were shaking their heads at some of the calls."

Meneff said "I don't feel the game was a gift and I've telephoned the Southwest Conference office and told them the same thing."

In a life-or-death game at Fayetteville tonight, Texas Tech (2-3) will be fighting for survival in the SWC campaign against the tough Arkansas Razorbacks.

Arkansas is 4-1 but is always dangerous at home.

In the only other game tonight involving a SWC club, the Texas Christian Horned Frogs attempt to even their season record when they meet Sam Houston State of the Lone Star Conference in Huntsville. TCU is 7-3 for the year.

after re-examining the contract, they have decided to drop their quarrel. Benvenuti had asked for an extra $65,000 pay.

SHERBROOKE, Que. (AP) — The Russian national hockey team maintained a torrid scoring pace to defeat the Sherbrooke Beavers of the Quebec Senior Hockey League 14-4 in an exhibition game Monday night.

The tough Henderson Reddies marched on toward their second straight Arkansas intercollegiate Conference basketball championship Monday night with a low-scoring victory over Southern State at Magnolia.

Although the score was low, the victory meant the same and the Reddies held on to their two-game lead over second-place Ouachita.

The final score was Henderson 59 and the Muleriders 54. In other games, Ouachita clipped Harding 79-70, Arkansas Tech nipped State College 84-81, Arkansas College downed Hendrix 68-53 and Ozarks nudged Arkansas A&M 92-91 in overtime.

Danny Davis led Henderson with 23 points and Darrell Oates added 12 more. Billy Barnes pumped in 26 for Southern State. Henderson now is 12-1 in AIC play and SSC is 7-6.

Ouachita led all the way to retain sole possession of second place in the standings with a 10-3 record.

Danny Sheets tossed in 18 points to lead OBU and George Frazier led Harding with 25 points. Harding is 7-6 in loop play.

Possibly the next biggest news in the conference Monday night was College of the Ozarks winning its first league game after 12 straight losses.

The Mountaineers and A&M were tied 77-77 at the end of regulation play, but Bob Sloan scored eight points in overtime to give Ozarks the victory. Bob Chance was the leading

Pyatt Mighty Mite on the B.B. Court

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — There are just enough boys in the upper three grades at Pyatt High School to put an offensive and defensive team on the football field.

But, basketball is the name of the game in the northwest Arkansas town of 144 and the 12 youngsters who tried out for the basketball team know what it's all about.

Pyatt, the defending state champion in Class B, is 32-1 and ranked ninth in the Associated Press Arkansas high school basketball poll.

"I guess it's just tradition," says Coach Sidney Ragland. "This has always been a basketball school."

"These kids' parents played and I guess it's just inherited," Ragland says. "It also helps that the people in the community are interested in the boys."

Ragland, like any coach who is shooting at the lone state tournament berth in a Class B district, shys away from any predictions, but admits this year's team has a "chance" to repeat as state champions.

"This team has better shooters," he says, "but last year we got more rebounds and more second shots."

Joel Tabor, a member of one of Pyatt's basketball playing families, is Pyatt's leader. He is averaging 30 points a game and, at 6-foot-4, is the team's leading rebounder.

He is the fifth Tabor Ragland has coached, and he may be the best.

"He has an advantage in that he has more size than the other boys," Ragland says. "He's a major college prospect. He's a good shooter, moves good, is agile and is a good ball-handler."

Ragland realizes that Pyatt, because of its classification and lack of exposure, operates at a disadvantage in the poll but says he would welcome a four team playoff between the state champions.

"We're not overpowering, but we can shoot with anyone," he says.

Little Rock Central, upset by Little Rock Horace Mann, was replaced by once-beaten Fort Smith Southside at the top of the poll.

Southside drew 10 of the 13 first place votes. Fayetteville, fifth last week, moved into a tie with Central for the No. 2 spot. Fort Smith Northside a notch to fourth and North Little Rock advanced from sixth to fifth. Unbeaten Camden Fairview moved up one spot to sixth and Pine Bluff, which suffered its second loss last week, fell from fourth to seventh. Mann, Pyatt and Conway continue to rank eighth, ninth and tenth.

Here are the results of the Associated Press basketball poll with first-place votes and team records in parentheses and total points at right:

1. FS Southside (10 (15-1) 125
2. (tie) Fayetteville (16-1) 98
LR Central (15-2) 98

4. FS Northside (1) (11-3) 94
5. North Little Rock (16-5) 67
6. Camden Fairview (1) (20-0) 66
7. Pine Bluff (1) (14-2) 63

8. LR Mann (14-6) 52
9. Pyatt (32-1) 25
10. Conway (17-3) 17

Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Altheimer, Eudora J.C. Johns, Salem, Searcy and Valley Springs.

Small Problems
PEORIA, Ill. — (AP) — One of the smallest starters in major college basketball is Bradley's 5-foot-4 Frank Sylvester.

"I get a lot of started looks from opposing players," he says, "but it makes me bear down more. The biggest problem is that I sometimes get mistaken for a fan. One day I had trouble getting into the Bradley locker room. The guard at the door told me: 'Run along, sonny boy.'"

Ozarks scorer with 28 points, Randy Muse netted 24 for A&M now 3-10 in the AIC.

Arkansas College improved its record to 5-8 with its victory over Hendrix, now 4-9. Bill Cossey with 23 points and Joe Albright with 20 led the Scot attack. Dwayne Nash had 16 for Hendrix.

Arkansas Tech had to come from behind to whip SCA, which led 48-43 at halftime. John Gross led Tech with 33 points and Paul Brown chipped in 24. Connie Johnson paced SCA with 24 points. Tech now is 9-4 in AIC play and SCA is 7-6.

Brown vs. Browns
CINCINNATI — (AP) — Paul Brown will get a chance to coach against the team he formed and turned into a National Football League power — the Cleveland Browns.

His Cincinnati Bengals of the American Football League will play the Browns in an exhibition game in 1970. The game will be the first football contest in Cincinnati's new riverfront stadium.

Magnolia Is Bobcat Foe Here Friday

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

Trying to escape from a seven-game losing streak, the Hope Bobcats rest from 4-AA Western Division competition, only to face the high-flying Magnolia Panthers in Jones Field House this Friday evening.

A busy basketball week is highlighted by the District 7-A Junior Girls Tournament which starts tomorrow night at Nashville.

Charlotte Gibson's Kitty Cats, 5-5 for the season and rested nearly two weeks, open the tourney at 6:45 p.m. tomorrow against the Gordon Juniors. The winner, probably Hope, would then move into a Thursday night semifinal against second-seeded Nashville. The finals will be played on Saturday evening.

Anxious to redeem themselves against two teams who beat them earlier in the season, the Hope Bobkittens put their 9-6 record on the line with two games at home this week. On Thursday night the Kittens take on Nashville, who won a December matchup 39-27.

In addition to the junior game that evening, there also will be contests involving the Hope and Nashville 7th graders and 8th graders in separate games. The 7th graders in their only outing gunned down Gordon 16-6. Friday night brings Magnolia to town, and the Bobkittens and Bobcats both look with eagerness to those games.

Magnolia's Junior Panther Cubs whipped the Bobkittens 50-29 last month while still undefeated, but as of late have suffered defeats to Warren and Camden. Importance is placed in this particular game as regular season records are considered when seeding time comes for the 4-AA Junior District Championships next week, at a site yet undetermined.

Still reveling in their 66-51 trimming of Camden Lincoln last Saturday, the Kittens leave their 4-2 district mark alone this week after four straight pressure games, of which the locals won three, two by one-point margins. Coach Jim Jordan has done an excellent job with the squad this far, but credit also must go to the players themselves, of whom only two started as 8th graders.

The Class AA Junior Boys State Tourney is set for Magnolia in three weeks, as the sites for the state meets are beginning to leak out. The Class A Senior Girls Championships will be in Clinton that same week, and the B Girls Tourney is to be played in Lewisville.

Third-rated Santa Clara trailed at halftime for the first time this season but rallied to turn back upstart San Francisco State 72-59 for an 18-0 record.

In other key games, 15th-ranked Duquesne downed Fairfield 85-75 and No. 20 Colorado nipped Missouri 80-79 in overtime.

The country's two top scorers had somewhat similar games. Pete Maravich the leader, made 14 of 33 shots and 31 points in Louisiana State's 95-71 romp over Mississippi State. Runner-up Calvin Murphy of Niagara shot 13-for-38 and 33 points but the Purple Eagles lost to DePaul 83-74.

"We're happy we achieved the 1,000-victory mark, regardless of Kentucky's claim," said Kansas Coach Ted Owens, noting that Kentucky went back into ancient newspaper files to unearth three previously overlooked triumphs. "It is a significant milestone and makes us proud of Kansas' winning basketball tradition."

Phil Harmon, a 6-foot-senior, took over for White, who used up his eligibility. But Owens switched from a White-directed attack to a three-guard offense.

"You don't replace someone like Jo Jo White," he said. "We just hope we're mature enough that we can adjust."

Kentucky blew an 11-point lead and overcame a 42-point spree by Auburn's John Mengelt. The Wildcats had their troubles until the final 12 minutes when they broke away from a 64-64 tie. Dan Issel scored 36 points, Mike Pratt 22 and Mike Casey 20 for Kentucky.

Namath Gets
Rae Hickok
Sports Prize

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — In a race between world championship throwers, Joe Namath, who quarterbacked the New York Jets to pro football supremacy, was named winner Monday night of the S. Rae Hickok Pro Athlete of the Year Award over Denny McLain.

Namath edged out McLain, 31-game winner of the Detroit Tigers, by four votes, closest margin in the 19-year history of the award.

McLain received 70 first-place votes to Namath's 63, but the Jets' all-pro quarterback polled 321 points to 317 for McLain.

The diamond-studded, gold-buckled Hickok belt that goes with the award was presented at a dinner here Monday night with teammate George Sauer accepting for Namath, who is on a tour of military bases.

Bob Gibson, star pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, was third in the voting, followed by golfer Billy Casper, Mickey Lolich of the Tigers, quarterback Earl Morrall of the Baltimore Colts, golfer Lee Trevino, pitcher Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers, Player-Coach Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics and middleweight boxing champion Nino Benvenuti.

The Golden Link Award, given to athletes who starred before the Hickok competition came into being, went to full-back Bronko Nagurski of Minnesota and the Chicago Bears.

The intermission, rallied behind Bud Ogden, who scored 16 of his 20 points in the second half as the Broncos overtook San Francisco State. Dennis Awtry paced the winners with 23 points and 16 rebounds.

Duquesne also had first-half troubles, but the Dukes broke away from a 36-all tie to beat Fairfield as Jarrett Durham scored 24 points.

A last-second shot failed to give Colorado a victory over Missouri in regulation time. But the Buffaloes went ahead to stay on Tim Wedgeworth's overtime layup, built up a five-point lead and held off the scrappy Tigers. Gordon Towe showed the way with 31 points.

Western Kentucky broke a tie with Murray State for the Ohio Valley Conference lead by edging the Thoroughbreds 84-82 on Wayne Brith's tip-in at the buzzer.

Editor Ralph McGill Dies at Age 71

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Ralph Emerson McGill, the Pulitzer Prize-winning publisher of the Atlanta Constitution, died Monday night of a heart attack. He would have been 71 Wednesday.

McGill rose from life in a small Tennessee farm community to become the South's most vocal white advocate of civil rights.

He was stricken as he was leaving a private birthday party in his honor at the home of a friend, John B. Lawhorn. He was pronounced dead at Holy Family Hospital.

McGill, who became publisher of the Constitution in 1960 after 31 years with the newspaper, received the Pulitzer Prize in 1958 for editorial writing. The Pulitzer committee pointed to his "long, courageous and effective editorial leadership."

He was awarded the Medal of Freedom in 1964, for what President Johnson described as making "man's world safe, his physical body more durable, his mind broader and his dignity important."

McGill, born 10 miles from the little farm community of Soddy, Tenn., began his newspaper career in 1922 as a sports writer and reporter for the Nashville Banner. He joined the Constitution as sports editor in 1929.

He was named executive editor in 1938 and became editor in 1942.

In a front page editorial in today's edition, the Constitution said: "Ralph McGill was the Constitution. And the Constitution is Ralph McGill."

"Ralph McGill spoke as the home-bred conscience of the South in an era of the emancipation of the spirit; the final unshackling, the paying of the final judgment."

"All mankind indeed was his family."

"We and our South and our nation are far richer for his life and poorer for his passing."

McGill became widely known through his syndicated column, in which he championed civil rights.

McGill made his first mark as a sports writer, coining the phrase "strong legs run that weak legs may walk," a slogan still used by Shriners in their all-star football games for the benefit of crippled children's hospitals.

His editorials argued against Ku Klux Klan-type violence and for freedom of equality for all men.

Friends and acquaintances expressed deep regret at McGill's death.

He was a man "loved by his friends and respected by his enemies," said Eugene Patterson, who succeeded McGill as Constitution editor in 1960, when McGill was named publisher.

Patterson, now managing editor of the Washington Post said: "This man was my brother. I loved him. I respected him and he taught me what a man ought to be. He was loved by his friends and respected by his enemies because a Southerner always recognizes that a man who said what he thought was right and stuck by it was a man you had to respect. There will never be another one like him."

Elgin Baylor Moves Up in ABA Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Association's individual scoring race has a new runner-up this week, but he doesn't pose an immediate threat to front-running Elvin Hayes.

San Diego's Big E, with 1,645 points and a 29.9 average, is running more than 300 points ahead of Los Angeles' Big E, Elgin Baylor, who has 1,343 points and a 28.3 average.

Bob Rule of Seattle is third 1,341 points although Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati has the third best average, 26.9, but only 1,318 points.

Will Chamberlain of the Lakers continues to lead in field goal percentage with .574 to .563 for Jerry Lucas of Cincinnati. Chamberlain also is the top rebounder with 1,145 and a 20.8 average to 1,049 and 20.2 for Bill Russell, Boston's injured player-coach.

Larry Siegfried of the Celtics has connected on 239 of 274 free throws for a league-leading .872 mark. Robertson is tops in assists with 482, an average of 9.5 a game.

California Offshore Oil Tests Closed

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — With one exception, offshore oil drillings were shut down today in the Santa Barbara channel as oil continued to bubble up at 21,000 gallons a day from a runaway well 3,500 feet under the ocean floor.

The rig still running was drilling a second well that experts hoped would relieve underground pressure forcing the oil through a crack in the sea floor.

An oil slick from the runaway covered about 200 square miles of the Pacific off the Southern California coast. Secretary of Interior Walter J. Hickel, after a flight over the slick, said "the pollution is more severe than I anticipated."

So far, strong winds from the east have kept most of the slick away from beaches except at a few points. However, conservationists express fears for marine and bird life.

Congressional concern over the pollution threat resulted in the Senate Public Works Committee sending a team of investigators from Washington to the scene.

The investigators will report their findings Wednesday to a public works subcommittee currently holding hearings on a bill that proposes fines of up to $15 million in cases of proven negligence in oil spillages.

Hickel, after his inspection, asked for suspension of drilling on a temporary, voluntary basis. Humble, Phillips, Gulf, Texaco and Mobil oil companies quickly agreed. Union Oil Co., owner of the well that began spewing oil eight days ago, had ceased operations at its offshore sites shortly after the seepage was discovered. The shutdown did not involve a Union well being drilled to relieve pressure from the runaway.

Hickel said the suspension "will afford a breathing spell until it can be decided what measures are necessary."

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Jack Nicklaus has won all of the major golf tournaments in the world, but there was a special something in his victory in the $150,000 Andy Williams San Diego Open Sunday.

A little wide-eyed at all the post-tournament excitement and press interviews were his two handsome youngsters, Steven, 5, and Jack, 7.

Barbara, Jack's wife pretty wife, explained: "This is the first time they were present when Jack won a tournament."

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Our first impressions, whether of persons or things, have great influence on all our future estimates and opinions. — Mazzini said it.

FUNERALS

Funeral service for Mrs. Cendrilla Jones who passed away in Santa Monica, California January 26, 1969, will be held at the Charity Baptist Church Fulton, Arkansas Thursday February 6th, at 2:00 p.m. Burial in Red Hill Cemetery under the direction of Hicks Funeral Home, Inc.

Funeral service for Mrs. Donnie Harper, sister of Mrs. L.M. Davis, will be held Thursday February 6th, at 11:00 a.m. in Richmond, California. Rose Manor Funeral Home of Richmond is in charge of arrangements.

Messages may be sent to Mrs. Davis at the funeral home or to 401 Main Street, Richmond, California.

Santa Barbara channel is being done on land leased from the federal government. After competitive bids, oil companies paid more than $600 million last February for the drilling rights. The federal government also was to receive a royalty on any oil produced.

In Los Angeles, 90 miles to the south, Chief Deputy Atty. Gen. Charles A. O'Brien told the California Water Resources Board that the state would file a civil suit against Union Oil when losses to fish and wild life can be assessed. The State Fish and Game Commission has been treating seabirds covered with oil that keeps them from being able to fly. Experts say much marine life could be harmed if the slick persists.

The leak developed, Union Oil said, after oil was reached at 3,500 feet under the ocean floor. Pressure rose up the drilling hole—between the 6-inch diameter pipe and the sides of the 12-inch diameter hole. After reaching a strata at the 500-foot level, the gas and oil was forced through fissures in the ocean bottom.

Student Aid Program Described for Lions

WILLIAM ECHOLS

Hope Lions Club heard information on Student Aid programs Monday at its noon luncheon. William Echols, Director of Public Information from Henderson State College was presented by Charles Sharpe, program chairman.

Mr. Echols told Lions of the different financial aid programs available for students desiring to attend college and encouraged the Lions to pass this information on to any young person they knew who needed this kind of help.

Work on campus was named first; these jobs average 12 hours per week and at Henderson 343 students are so employed.

The National Defense Student

Loan Program was discussed. Under this program a student can borrow money for his education, have ten years to repay at three percent interest and if he enters the teaching field half the loan will be forgiven.

A grade average of 2.5 is necessary to obtain money on this program. There are also outright grants available which of course do not have to be repaid, and student scholarships which are granted and once the student gets one of these it will be renewed each year if he maintains a "B" average.

Miss Thelma Bruce is in charge of the Student Aid program and she can be contacted if further information is needed.

Massaging of Feet Helps Circulation

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—Will massaging help the poor circulation in my feet? What is the best way to do it and how often?

A—Massaging will help only if swelling of your ankles has resulted from poor circulation. The massaging should be gentle, with the pressure always carried toward the heart. It may be continued for 10 to 30 minutes, three or four times a day, if it seems to help you.

Q—Is it harmful or beneficial to lie down several times a day with my feet elevated above my head?

A—It is not harmful and, if you have any swelling in your ankles, this can be very beneficial.

Q—My doctor says I have an enlarged heart. What causes this? I am taking digitoxin. What is it for?

A—The chief cause of an enlarged heart is a leaky valve, usually the result of rheumatic heart disease. Other causes are chronic high blood pressure and emphysema. Digitoxin is a derivative of digitalis. It is given to strengthen the contractions of your heart.

Q—A chest X ray showed that I have an enlarged heart. My doctor says I have hypertensive cardiovascular disease. Is it dangerous?

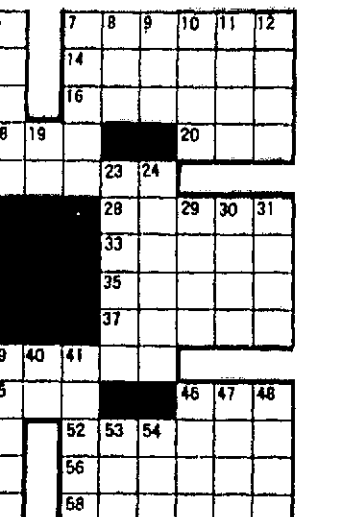

A—This is enlargement due to chronic high blood pressure. It is dangerous only if prompt steps are not taken to control the pressure and strengthen the heart.

Q—My husband was told he has an aortic condition. Should he stop working? Should he see a heart specialist?

A—Your husband may have a leaky aortic valve, an aortic aneurysm (outpouching) or hardening of the aorta. Whether or not he should stop working would depend on the severity of his disease and the nature of his work. A heart specialist would be the best person to

U.S. FOREIGN TRADE

The value of U.S. exports has consistently exceeded imports since World War II, going a long way to make up for the consistent balance of payments deficits rung up by overseas defense, business investment and tourist spending. But the gap has been closing to the point where the U.S. foreign trade surplus dropped to the lowest point in years during 1968.

North plans to get to a slam the moment he hears his partner open with no-trump. He has 12 points and a five-card suit. North has some mild interest in a grand slam even though his partner's two no-trump opening shows only 21 to 22 points, but North is only interested in case his partner holds four hearts. Hence he responds with a Stayman three-club bid rather than a three-diamond bid.

South's three no-trump rebid is a method used by Stayman, the Jacobys and most experts. It denies four cards in either major and also denies four diamonds. A three-diamond reply would show four diamonds. This rebid simplifies matters for North who jumps right to six no-trump. The play at six no-trump illustrates a standard safety play. South counts up his

He wins the spade in his own hand and plays his king of hearts. West's queen drops and now South has his four heart tricks. If the queen had not dropped South would have gone over to dummy and led a second heart toward his jack. He would lose one heart trick but that would be his only loser in the suit. Suppose East had started with four to the queen. He could play it or duck. He would still collect one and only one heart trick. Suppose West had started with four to the queen. South's jack would force the queen. Later, South would lead a third heart from his hand and finesse against the 10 spot.

Nixon Must Speak Out for Treaty

— Fulbright

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright says the Nixon administration will have to make its own case if it expects the Senate to approve the nuclear nonproliferation treaty.

"If the administration wants this treaty, it will have to make its own case for it," Fulbright, the Arkansas Democrat who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said.

"It won't be enough just to say that President Johnson and Secretary of State (Dean) Rusk made the case.

"We will want the new administration to make known its attitude toward the treaty," said Fulbright, who supports the pact.

Fulbright said high administration officials have told him they hope President Nixon will decide this week whether he wants action on the treaty now.

However, administration sources indicated prior to the interview with Fulbright that Nixon had decided to recommend this week that the Senate proceed toward early approval of the treaty.

The Foreign Relations committee approved the treaty during the last Congress, but it was not called up for a floor vote.

The delay was caused in large measure by Nixon's reluctance to see it ratified when the memorandum of the Soviet Union's invasion of Czechoslovakia was that Nixon was thinking of an early spring visit to Western Europe.

Although the Arab-Israeli conflict got top billing at today's session, other areas of foreign policy, including perhaps the United States' position on the proposed trip to China, were on the agenda.

Despite Nixon's preoccupation with the explosive Mideast situation, he found room today in his crowded schedule for a morale-boosting trip to another Cabinet department—this time labor.

Nixon planned similar trips the rest of the week to the Post Office and Commerce departments, plus a meeting with republican congressional leaders.

U.S. Keeps Sharp Eye on Middle East

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another meeting of the National Security Council—fifth since President Nixon took office—kept the administration spotlight on Middle East tensions today.

The meetings of top intelligence, diplomatic and military aides assumed an added dimension with confirmation Monday that Nixon was thinking of an early spring visit to Western Europe.

The White House also announced Monday the President plans this weekend to make his first trip to his Key Biscayne, Fla., vacation spot since he moved into the White House.

But it won't be entirely a pleasure trip, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said.

Going along for "some foreign policy meetings" will be Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, the President's special assistant for national security affairs.

Nixon took up problems of the city at a meeting of his urban affairs council Monday. Then he spent an hour and 40 minutes visiting at the Housing and Urban Development and Agriculture departments.

Nixon stressed to top officials in both agencies that the success of the administration depends on their leadership and on the "competence and dedication" of the thousands of career government employees.

Nixon also made two top-level appointments of New Yorkers Monday.

Revolt Faces Moderate in N. Ireland

By COLIN FROST

Associated Press Writer
BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Northern Ireland begins an election campaign today in which Prime Minister Terence O'Neill seeks support for his moderate policies toward the territory's Roman Catholic minority.

After four months of Protestant-Catholic strife, the 54-year-old prime minister dissolved the territorial Parliament Monday after it became clear an increasingly powerful faction in his ruling Unionist party was determined to drive him from office. O'Neill is appealing over the heads of the dissidents in his party to those he believes want moderation.

The vote is set for Feb. 24. The six counties' 942,000 voters will choose 52 members for the provincial Parliament.

In an apathetic 1965 election, the Protestant-based Unionists won 37 seats. The Nationalists, then committed to reuniting Northern Ireland with the Catholic Irish Republic to the south, won nine seats and the rest were split among minority groups.

There will be no apathy Feb. 24. Northern Ireland has been torn by strife since last October, when the province's Catholic minority began protesting discrimination in jobs and housing.

The Catholics clashed with militant Protestants, who saw the civil rights protests as a move to break away from the London government and unite with the Catholic Irish Republic to the South.

The Unionists outvoted the Nationalists two to one and normally would be assured of outright victory. They have been in a power since the provincial Parliament was established 48 years ago.

But this time the Unionists are split. At least 14 of the party's 37 members in the outgoing parliament are united in open opposition to O'Neill, charging he has failed to maintain law and order.

By calling the election, O'Neill postponed a party caucus Wednesday or Thursday at which the rebels hoped to win a majority against O'Neill and force his dismissal as party leader and prime minister.

The dissolution of Parliament also postponed legislation O'Neill had introduced in answer to criticism that the government had been unable to preserve law and order.

The bills would increase police control over marches and demonstrations, ban the carrying of weapons, and provide for an ombudsman to investigate charges of government maladministration.

Hijacking of Airliner Is Foiled

By THEODORE A. EDIGER

Associated Press Writer

MIAMI (AP) — A knife-wielding Cuban hijacked a jet airliner with 93 persons to his native island Monday. But the passengers and crew of a second huge jet were spared a similar detour when their pilot decided a long-haired youth lacked the nerve to carry out his skyjack threat.

The youth, Michael Peparo, 18, of Cold Spring, N.Y., and a girl companion, Tamsin Fitzgerald, 18, of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., were arrested when National Airlines New York-to-Miami flight landed here. Both were charged with air piracy and kidnapping and held without bond.

Airline officials said Peparo was carrying a knife and a can of mosquito repellent when he forced his way into the cockpit of the flight carrying 73 persons.

Capt. Harry Davis, the pilot, said Peparo told him he was eligible for the draft in about six months and didn't want to go into the army. Peparo said he preferred a simple life of hard work, in Cuba if necessary, Davis said.

The flight engineer, Harry L. Hendrickson, said Peparo gave way to tears several times while talking with the crew. Davis told officers he "doubted the boy had the nerve" to carry out his threat.

He said the crew convinced Peparo they would need more fuel to make the trip to Havana and he agreed to land in Miami. After they were on the ground Peparo agreed to give up the plan entirely, Davis said.

Peparo wore a mustache, shoulder-length hair, blue jeans, desert boots and a pullover sweater. Miss Fitzgerald wore boots and a flowered dress and carried a flute in a small black case.

In Poughkeepsie, the girl's mother told newsmen her daughter "went to New York with her friend Mickey on the 8 o'clock train this morning. She said she was going to take a flute lesson and then do some errands. I sort of thought she was putting me on but . . ."

Mrs. John Fitzgerald said her daughter and Mickey had been seeing each other "for about six months. Mickey lost his 28 (student) deferment when the term ended in January—he was attending Dutchess Community College here—and Tamsin told me he was worried about the draft."

The four persons who left the hijacked Eastern Airlines plane in Cuba were "dressed well enough," pilot Capt. Jack Moore of Miami said.

Capt. Moore said the passenger list carried the names of the quartet, two men and two women, as "J. Bablin, W. Hernandez, Mrs. W. Hernandez and Miss Hernandez." He said the men were Cubans "about 40, one about six feet tall with receding hair. The other a little shorter, maybe five feet ten and approaching the chubby side."

"Only one spoke English and he told me, 'We are Cubans and we have to go back,'" Moore said. "He didn't say why."

Moore said one of the hijackers forced his way into the cockpit with what "looked like a large steak knife with a blade about nine inches long" held against Stewardess Peggy Boulton, 20, of Philadelphia.

Witnessing the performance from a passenger seat was Allen Funt, who used to film people in every conceivable situation for his "Candid Camera" television show.

"I had a ton of camera equipment, but it was in the luggage compartment," Funt said after returning to Miami with 83 other passengers late Monday night. "Even if I had taken pictures of the hijacking they (the Cubans) would have confiscated the film."

There have been 12 hijackings to Cuba this year. Two other attempted hijackings, including the one Monday, were foiled.

Missionary to Speak at Tabernacle

The Rev. Harold Carpenter, an Assemblies of God missionary to French Guiana, will be guest speaker Wednesday night, Feb. 5, at 7 p.m. at the First Assembly of God Church, 322

REV. H. CARPENTER

N. Main, the Rev. C.C. Truitt, pastor, has announced.

Mr. Carpenter and his wife Myrna are the first assemblies of God missionaries to be appointed to French Guiana, which is the only country in Central and South America where the organization does not have an established work.

The Carpenters recently returned from Bolivia, South America, where they were active in evangelism and establishing churches.

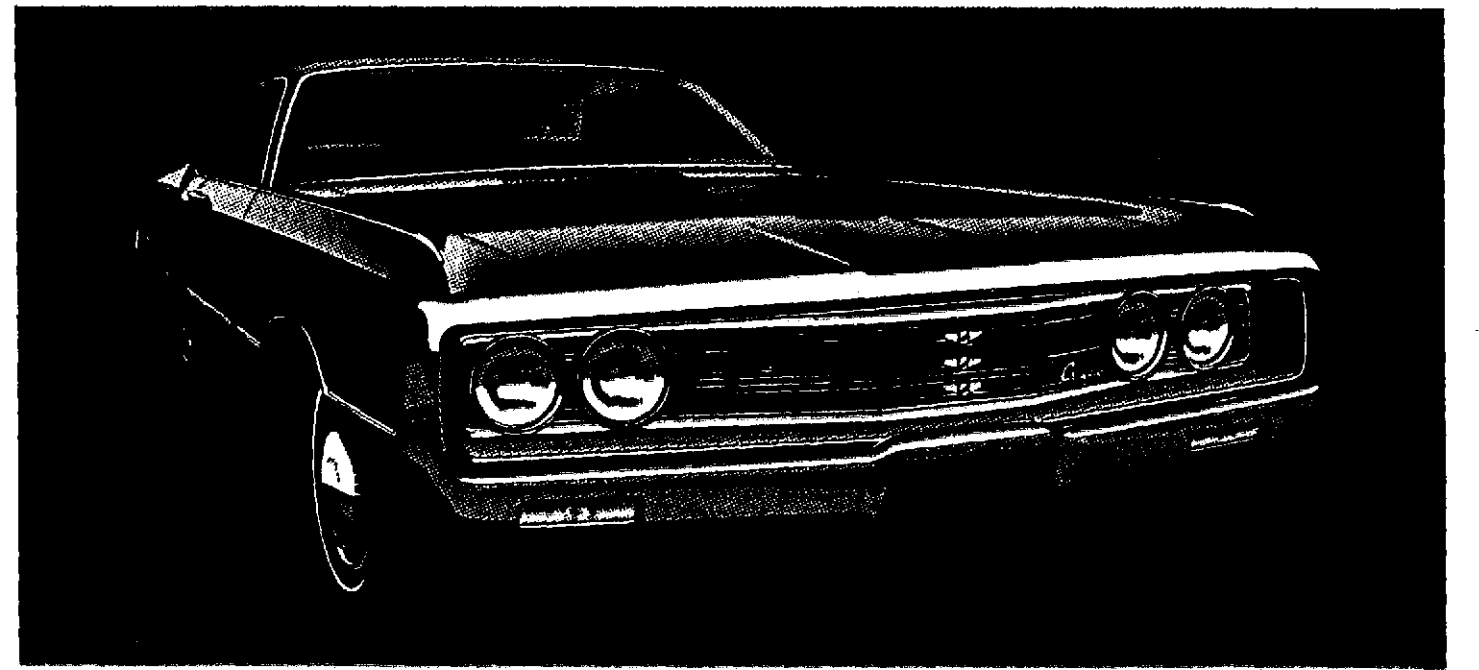

The Carpenters attended Southwestern Assemblies of God College in Waahachle, Texas, where Mr. Carpenter received his B.A. degree. They are natives of Arkansas and prior to the missionary appointment pastored churches in Magazine, Violet Hill, and Harriet, Arkansas. Slides, curios, and costumes will be featured during this special mission rally. The pastor invites the public to attend.

The Carpenters have three children. Michael, Kevin, and Rhonda.

Jammed Courts
a Paradox on Lawlessness

Yesterday's Washington dispatch quoting the Attorney General's report that U. S. district courts now have a record backlog of 97,245 cases awaiting trial might make you think all is well with American law enforcement.

But on second thought you recognize it for the paradox it is—the mounting pile of judicial proceedings is indisputable evidence that law and order are breaking down.

Too many laws being passed when we don't have police enough to enforce fundamental statutes, too many trivial arrests when we are already short of judges to hear serious charges—all this adds up to a tidal wave of crime . . . because law-violators have lost the fear of immediate and certain punishment.

And so the paradox of statistics—which seem to point one way but actually travel in the opposite direction.

I recall statistics were used by the "drys" in one Hempstead local option election, and when I took the time to shake down the facts at the courthouse I found that nearly 1,000 liquor charges had grown so old they had been archived. . . . Incontestable evidence that prohibition was unenforceable.

President Nixon took a close look at Washington's critical crime record and came up with the correct recommendations: More police to make arrests, and more judges to assure quick trial and punishment.

There's your paradox. With too many cases already before the courts you would hardly think the answer is more police to make still more arrests—but that is exactly the answer.

Given more police to catch offenders, and more judges to mete out quick and certain justice, a community will suddenly find law and order have become an effective machine—for the certainty of retribution is the one thing most likely to cool off lawlessness.

It's a good deal like priming a pump. You have to give it water in order to get water. And regardless of present statistics you need more police and more judges in order to break up the lawlessness and turn the tide which has built up today's court backlog to 97,245.

Bulletins

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas House Revenue and Taxation Committee today recommended passage of a bill which would require a documentary stamp tax on the transfer of real property.

The committee recommended amending the bill to reduce the amount of the tax from $1.50 to 55 cents per $500 value of real property.

It has been estimated that the measure would produce $500,000 a year.

Rep. George Nowotny of Fort Smith, sponsor of the administration bill, said he believed it would produce more than that.

The committee also voted to recede from an amendment it attached to the bill earlier. The amendment would have levied the tax on the transfer of stocks and bonds.

A bill increasing the permit fees for retail and wholesale liquor and beer and native wines also received a favorable recommendation from the committee.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas House Revenue and Taxation Committee today recommended passage of two mixed drink bills, one of which would provide for a local option election.

There was little discussion on either bill.

The administration's measure, HB 113 by Rep. Herbert Rule III of Little Rock, received an overwhelming endorsement in a voice vote.

The other bill, HB 125 by Rep. Allan Dismouth of Little Rock, also received a favorable voice vote, but it was considerably closer than the other.

Rescue of Pueblo Once Considered

By RICHARD E. MEYER
Associated Press Writer
CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — After the capture of the Pueblo, two high ranking Navy officials ordered a destroyer to prepare to go into a North Korean harbor to board it and tow it away if necessary, an admiral has testified.

Rear Adm. George L. Cassell detailed the order Monday to a Navy court of inquiry into the Pueblo's capture by North Korea. But a further question, asking whether any actual attempt to rescue the Pueblo was ever carried out, was left unanswered.

There was no known actual attempt to remove the Pueblo from North Korean custody. When the Pueblo was seized a little over a year ago, Cassell was assistant chief of staff for operations for the commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet, based in Honolulu.

He agreed with earlier witnesses that neither U.S. ships nor planes were close enough to help immediately but said recovery action was possible the next day.

"Adm. (John) Hyland, myself and the Operational Control Center directed the Seventh Fleet to dispatch a destroyer and position this destroyer off Wonsan Harbor in international waters," Cassell said.

Hyland was fleet commander. "We further directed Commander Seventh Fleet to provide air cover for this particular destroyer and be prepared to recover the Pueblo either by going into the harbor and manning the ship and getting under way or towing as necessary. I forget the precise words, but she was to be prepared to recover or tow the Pueblo."

He said naval officials discussed other possibilities, such as sending aircraft to destroy the ship "to prevent classified material from falling into the hands of the Koreans."

Executive officer Lt. Edward R. Murphy Jr. was called to the stand today as the first of the Pueblo's crew, other than skipper Lloyd Bucher, to testify in open court.

Lt. Stephen Harris, in charge of the Pueblo's intelligence detachment, testified for more than five hours Thursday and Monday. The Navy said his testimony was classified in the interest of national defense, but that Harris would give unclassified testimony in open court later this week.

Cassell said he was in the home of Admiral Hyland when the Pueblo was seized.

Cassell said he and Hyland went to the Operational Control Center four or five minutes from the house. Cassell then described the orders to the Seventh Fleet, and Capt. William Newsome, counsel for the court, asked: "You were positioning your ships then with a view toward retaliation?"

"Yes," Cassell said, "retaliation."

Here's Story of Bob Fosse, a Top U.S. Stage Choreographer

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — As a small lad in Chicago, Bob Fosse liked to entertain visitors to his family home by putting on an act he called "Tarzan Wrestling the Lion."

"I was pretty obnoxious, I guess," he recalled with a grimace. "I shaved our collie to make him look more like a lion. Then I hid some ketchup behind a chair and doused myself with it in the middle of the act."

After watching this bloody living room drama several times, Bob's father, a salesman who had spent a year as a vaudeville singer earlier in life, decided his son was destined for show business. So he sent Bob to dancing school at the age of 8.

Today, at 40, Fosse, who first led a children's troupe then served his apprenticeship on the night club circuit, is one of the nation's most brilliant directors and choreographers.

Army Dog Dies in Action Shielding Master From Fire

NEW YORK (AP) — Air Force Sgt. Thomas J. Caputo is celebrating his second wedding anniversary at his Bronx home with his wife, Veronica, thanks to Fritzle, his guard dog, who died in South Vietnam so his master might live.

Caputo, 21, with shrapnel wounds of both arms and his right leg, told Monday how he and Fritzle were on their last mission together in a jungle near Phan Rang.

Fritzle had been reassigned to a new handler when Communist raiders attacked and the Air Force security unit was ordered into action. Knowing the new dog handler was still green, Caputo said, he volunteered.

As dog and man passed a bunker, Fritzle caught the scent of intruders and both hit the dirt as a flare went up and four enemy soldiers opened fire. Caputo returned the fire with a submachine gun, a bullet striking one Red soldier who had explosives strapped to his body.

Caputo fell bleeding and Fritzle shielded his master, taking slugs which killed the 100-pound dog.

Minnesota Has a Bad Time Defending Its Climate This Winter

By GEORGE MOSES
Associated Press Writer
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Texan landed in Minnesota one night when it was 25 below zero and the snowbanks along the runways were high enough to hide a plane.

During his brief visit, it got warm enough for the snow to turn to sleet. Then it turned cold and began snowing again.

"Tell me," he asked as he headed back South, "can you think of one reason anybody would want to live up here?"

Those are fighting words to skiers, snowmobile buffs, Chamber of Commerce secretaries, and the tourists who swarm Minnesota's 10,000 lakes in the summertime.

But this winter, they're harder to answer. Snow has grabbed the entire state of Minnesota in a sustained hammerlock that may well be without precedent in terms of unwilling shut-ins, blocked roads, closed schools and short tempers.

Up north in the pine forest country, where heavy snow is more of a way of life, the year's total has already topped 100 inches.

In the twin cities of Minneapolis

Warmer Weather Wednesday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A warming trend is to begin in the western portion of Arkansas tonight and continue through Wednesday.

No precipitation is in the forecast through Wednesday.

Southerly winds on the back side of a high pressure area moving southwestward from the east portion of Texas are expected to produce the warmer temperatures.

Temperatures Monday were in the mid to upper 40s in the north portions of the state and in the low to mid 50s in the southern sections.

Readings in the 60s are expected Wednesday.

Overnight low temperatures ranged from 21 at Fayetteville to 34 at Harrison. No rainfall was reported during the 24-hour period ended at 6 a.m. ils and St. Paul, 54 inches through January was a new record, and most of it is still around.

It's dangerous to speak of any piece of Minnesota "bearing the brunt" of this snow treasure, but distress calls point to the southwestern part of the state, a region of small cities and farms, as being particularly hard hit.

To give you an idea, look at Les Sankey, who lives near Lake Wilson, in the very southwest corner.

Sankey's handsome Buffalo Ridge Farm looks out on a superb sweep of country. This winter the view extends only to the first massive snowdrift which has locked the family in.

One-half mile from the nearest public road, Sankey, his wife, Loreen, and their 2-year-old daughter, Brenda, caught it first last Dec. 22. They dug out by Christmas Day. Christmas night more drifting snow isolated them until New Year's.

So the Sankeys went to California for three weeks. "I said, 'Only the weather was lousy there, too.'"

He returned Jan. 25, and needed a tractor with a snow scoop to cover the last lap.

He found company. His father and mother, Mrs. John Sankey of nearby Edgerton, had arrived to relieve a neighbor boy, who, using a horse, had gotten in to do the milking. The elder Sankeys got in with the help of neighbors, became snowbound, too.

A milk bulk truck made it in one day when the Sankey storage tanks were about to run over. A feed truck got in once. Sankey has gotten out once since his vacation to get mail and supplies. Since then—a snowy day.

"We listen to the radio and watch a lot of TV," said the younger Mrs. Sankey. "The weather broadcasts sound like a broken record," added her husband.

In Sankey's county, Murray, which is one of the hardest-hit, a snowmobile-plane rescue unit has been formed. Farmers are advised by radio how to make distress signs in the snow.

But the wind pushing the deep snow can undo in one night a week's work by hundreds of men and equipment.

Hot Springs Files Charge on Official

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The Hot Springs City Council Monday night instructed city Atty. Curtis Ridgeway to file a formal charge of misconduct in office against Civil Service Commissioner J. O. Burris.

The council also told Ridgeway to set a trial date. Burris' attorney, Sam Anderson, said he could be ready for trial in about 15 days. He said he expected to call about 30 to 50 witnesses.

The Garland County Grand Jury in late 1968 investigated alleged charges of misconduct in office against Burris and recommended to the council to take action.

A council investigation Advisory Committee was named to conduct an investigation, and the committee presented a resolution to the council Monday night calling for the formal charge. The resolution was adopted.

U.S. Hand May Be Extended to Red China

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite the hard line he laid down on Red China policy last week, President Nixon plans to start a new diplomatic probe later this month into the possibility of improving U.S.-Peking relations.

Nixon is considering proposing to the Chinese regime that as a first step the two countries relax travel and communications barriers somewhat. Easing of the U.S. embargo on trade with the Chinese mainland might follow eventually.

Some State department officials believe there is an outside chance the Peking regime may be shifting its policy from a high degree of isolation to a more flexible position.

The very limited hope held by some experts is based on the fact that Communist China itself proposed last November that the next round of diplomatic talks with the United States should be held Feb. 20—a month after the Nixon administration took office.

The date, which the State Department accepted by agreement with President-elect Nixon's advisers at the time, was coupled with a Chinese proposal which some officials here considered hopeful that the two countries make an agreement "on the five principles for peaceful coexistence."

The principles include respect for territorial integrity, non-aggression, noninterference, equality and living together in peace. The United States and China have held unofficial meetings for several years in Warsaw, Poland.

President Nixon was asked at his news conference a week ago about his "plans" for improving relations with Communist China. He immediately declared opposition to admitting the country to the United Nations under present circumstances. He also said he saw no prospect of any change in U.S. policy "until some changes occur on their side."

Despite this public posture, the President and his advisers

Appeal Is Taken in Hawkins Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Richard S. Arnold of Texarkana Monday filed an appeal in the state Supreme Court in connection with a taxpayers' suit that resulted in Conway County Sheriff Marlin Hawkins paying $10,082 to the county.

The taxpayers originally alleged that Hawkins misappropriated more than $200,000 from 1954 to 1966 in county funds.

Circuit Court Judge Bobby Steel of Nashville, however, ruled in the trial at Morrilton that the statute of limitations prevented court action regarding Hawkins' affairs before 1963.

This ruling was the basis for the appeal.

Steel found that Hawkins had failed to legally account for $10,082 of the $63,000 he handled from 1963 through 1966. Steel also noted that Hawkins had not been convicted of any willful wrongdoing.

2 Accidents Investigated by Police

Hope Police Officers Long and Milam investigated a two-car accident at 9:25 a.m. Monday when a car driven by W.B. Yancey collided with a car driven by Mrs. Alma Windberry causing minor damage to the Windberry car. No charges were filed.

At 7:30 a.m. Tuesday, Officers Long and Sinyard investigated another two-car accident at the corner of E. Second and S. Hazel streets where a car driven by Arthur Ross collided with a car driven by Charles Sisson. Ross was charged with failure to yield the right of way. Minor damage resulted.

Switches Armies So He Can Fight in the Vietnam War

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — Lt. Col. Peter G. Fleming picked an unorthodox route to Vietnam.

He switched armies. Until midnight Friday, Fleming was an officer in the King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry, a regiment of the British army.

He retired—for eight hours. Saturday, he was sworn in as a lieutenant colonel in the U.S. Army by Maj. Gen. John M. Wright Jr., commanding general of Ft. Benning, so he can be sent to duty in Vietnam.

Fleming wore an American uniform borrowed from the widow of a friend who died in action in Vietnam. He was then assigned as executive officer of the 197th Light Infantry Brigade at Ft. Benning, until he can be transferred to Vietnam.

Fleming's U.S. commission is temporary. It was arranged after he received some precedent-setting, red-tape-cutting waivers from the British government which took several months.

The waivers remove Fleming from complying with a regulation that commissioned officers wait five years after their retirement from the British Army

Fisticuffs Near Thing in State Senate

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Calling it the "worst prepared bill I have ever seen" state Sen. Fred H. Stafford of Marked Tree Monday asked the Arkansas Senate to defeat a bill authored by a representative in his district.

The issue resulted in a verbal battle between Stafford and Rep. James Roberts of Trumann, and threatened to erupt into fisticuffs.

The Senate defeated the bill, 0-32, after Stafford told his colleagues that Roberts had cursed him earlier Monday while they were discussing the measure.

Stafford said that after Roberts cursed him Monday, "I told him if he continued it, I would ask the presiding officer to remove him from the Senate." Roberts denied that he had cursed Stafford. He said the senator shook a fist in his face.

The 72-year-old Stafford told newsmen later, "Get your cameras ready if he comes back over here. I've got arthritis, but I don't have it in this fist."

Roberts said he had asked Stafford if he was going to kill the bill.

"I wanted him to turn it loose and let another senator handle it," Roberts said. "He said he was going to handle it and was going to beat it. This is the Hempstead County Assn. for Retarded children will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 6 at the Boy Scout Hut in Fair Park. There will be information about state income tax deduction for the mentally retarded.

Chapter 328, Order of the Eastern Star, will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 6 in the Masonic Hall. At that time the Chapter Sweetheart will be honored.

Hope Police Officer Larry Stone recently completed a three weeks course at the Arkansas Law Enforcement Academy at Camden and received his diploma.

Girl Scout Troop No. 356 was instructed on the use of their cameras by Clyde Davis of Shipley Studio, at their last meeting.

Airman First Class Rodney D. Cash, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cash of Cleveland, Tenn., and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cash of Hope, has been awarded the Air Force Commendation Medal. The Citation stated that Cash distinguished himself by meri-before they join any other military service.

The 42-year-old officer has served 22 years in the British army—in India, Africa and Southeast Asia. In 1961 he fought guerrillas in Malaysia and Borneo.

But the British wouldn't send him to Vietnam. Fleming said he tried unsuccessfully to get there as an observer, and found it "professionally frustrating" when he could not.

He has been at Ft. Benning since 1966, serving as British liaison officer to the U.S. Army Infantry School and Infantry Center, a job he described jokingly as "a friendly spy."

A paratrooper, Fleming holds an M.A. degree from Oxford. He said his wife Margaret and their 15-year-old daughter Corinna probably will stay at Ft. Benning when he is shipped to where the action is. They can. They're U.S. dependents now.

N. Vietnam Troops Inside the DM Zone

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. intelligence reports say there are from 1,500 to 3,000 North Vietnamese troops inside the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam it was learned today.

The U.S. Command would not comment on enemy strength in the six-mile-wide strip that stretches 40 miles across Vietnam. But it was learned from other reliable sources that intelligence places three to six North Vietnamese battalions of 600 men each in the zone, most of them in the northern half.

President Nixon said at his first news conference last week that one of the top American priorities at the Paris peace talks would be restoration of the zone to the demilitarized status prescribed in the 1954 Geneva agreement. But the Communist side at the conference has refused to discuss this, saying it is a U.S. trick to perpetuate American forces in Vietnam.

Sources said that Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, does not consider the enemy troops inside the zone a serious threat to this point. But the North Vietnamese have been moving war supplies through the zone into Laos and then down the Ho Chi

Sirhan Takes the Stand in Murder Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The defense arranged to call Sirhan Bishara Sirhan to the witness stand for the first time today—to talk about his family's low income but not the murder of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy for which he is on trial.

Defense attorney Grant B. Cooper wants to quash the murder indictment brought against the 24-year-old Jordanian on grounds the grand jury's members were highly educated with above-average income and didn't represent a cross-section of population.

Sirhan's tiny, grey-haired mother, Mary, 55, also was called to testify about the family's economic conditions. Sirhan was jobless when arrested. His mother works as a housekeeper.

The defense subpoenaed all 133 of the county's Superior Court judges to explain how they pick grand jurors. Three testified in person, saying it was difficult to find low-income jurors because of the hardship in leaving work.

Cooper said 13-page questionnaires were completed by most of the other judges.

After the defense motion is disposed of by Superior Court Judge Herbert V. Walker, a jury of eight men and four women, already sworn to hear the trial, will be sworn in and selection of six alternate jurors begun.

Sirhan is charged with murdering Kennedy moments after the New York senator claimed victory in California's Democratic presidential primary last June 5. He also is being tried on five counts of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder.

Man Wounded Resisting Local Arrest

Last Saturday night, Sheriff Jimmie Griffin and Chief Deputy Herbert Griffin were in Washington to serve a warrant on Leon Nelson. In the process of arresting Nelson, the officers had brought him out of a local cafe and taken him to the police car.

Arriving at the car, Nelson began to resist arrest, a scuffle followed, with Deputy Griffin being knocked to the ground and Sheriff Griffin hit in the face. During the altercation, a pistol was discharged with the bullet hitting Nelson in the leg. Nelson ran after being shot, but fell and was caught by the officers.

An ambulance was summoned from Hope and brought Nelson to a local hospital for examination. He was then transferred to University Hospital in Little Rock.

Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Norman Smith Monday filed a felony warrant against Nelson charging him with attempting to escape.

Press to End Longshore Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz, pressing for all possible efforts to end the seven-week longshoremen's strike, has assigned a special mediator to coordinate the far-flung negotiations.

"I call upon the parties in the strongest possible terms to exert every effort in continuous bargaining sessions to resolve their differences," Shultz said Monday.

The secretary appointed David Cole to coordinate the negotiations which are going on at ports along the East and Gulf coasts.

Cole served as a White House fact-finder during an 80-day fact-finding injunction and later helped reach a tentative agreement in New York.

Curfew Is Sought in Pine Bluff

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — The Pine Bluff City Council received a resolution Monday night calling for a 10 p.m. curfew Sunday through Thursday for persons under 18 years of age.
